

THE BOURBON NEWS.

SEMI-WEEKLY.

VOL. I.

PARIS, BOURBON COUNTY, KENTUCKY: FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 8, 1892.

NO. 54.

The Lexington races begin next Monday.
HENTLEY, in Rip Van Winkle, is superb.

STREET-CARS could have done a smashing business this week.

Will Gregory, of Radcliff Mills precinct, has gone to Missouri, to buy land.

The Louisville Exposition opened Tuesday, and run until Oct. 21.

Our city showed some little signs of life yesterday—the first since Court-day.

Woodman county gives Joe Blackburn a grand barbecue near Versailles, next Tuesday.

The vehicles going through town yesterday made things look a little like olden times.

Our billiard and liquor saloons appear to be the most prosperous business houses in town.

WILL JOHNSON, the job printer, will buy him a new press and attach steam power, in a few days.

The "Great Western" will publish the premium list to-day, but the News publishes the news.

It's a fearful walk to the new depot, but the great crowd of hangers-on still keep up the good-by nuisances.

The special premium by the Barnett House, for the best ladies' saddle horse, will be contested for at 2 o'clock to-day.

A. NEWBORN has returned from New York, and his goods are selling in every day. His house is now full enough for four houses.

HENRY SPEARS, cash of the Agricultural Bank, has been elected County Treasurer, to fill the vacancy caused by C. V. Higgins, dec'd.

JOHN R. SWINNEY says that now they are going to move the post-office to Shiloh square, and the Court-house to the Christian Church yard.

"Divorced" as rendered by the Huntley combination, was a rare treat Tuesday evening. It is indeed a captivating play, and one filled with humor, pathos and tears.

ANNIE DORSEY has charge of Bashford's restaurant up stairs, and will serve the public at all hours. He will "turn the animals loose" at 10 o'clock every evening.

NEAL HARVEY, the tailor, who was here three years ago, has returned from a United States tramp through Texas and twenty other States, and has squatted on the boards with old "Tip."

East Lynn well received last night, by a crowded hall. To-night, "Woman's Devotion," a piece of frontier life in '49 will be given. It is one the most popular pieces now on the boards in the East.

The Bourbon House is running a free bus for its guests. It is one of the best lines of Lexington. Mr. Hocker, we understand, desires to buy out the Thurston House bus and put on a permanent line.

Dev your dinner from the Presbyterian luncheon at the fair grounds, and your supper from the Christian Church ladies in town, and go to see that splendid Hunkley Dramatic Combination at the hall, and be exquisitely happy.

HENRY'S friends of Joseph Jones, Circuit Clerk, deeply sympathize with him in the loss of his wife, who died Tuesday morning after a long and painful illness with consumption. Dr. Rutherford conducted the funeral ceremonies at the Presbyterian Church Wednesday at 4 o'clock.

Gov. Blackburn has appointed Breckinridge & Shelby and Hunt & Darnall to go to Washington in behalf of the State of Kentucky, when the case of John Bush comes up on a writ of error before the Supreme Court of the United States. The case will come up in October. (Lexington Transcript.)

We acknowledge a contribution from J. D. Kehoe, Secretary of the Mayville Fair Association. This fair commences on the 19th, and continues five days. It is one of the more attractive fairs in the State, offers a large list of premiums, and will be represented by some of the best attractions in the Union, in the line of horse flesh. Their trot is not excelled by any in the State.

A late letter from Ed Taylor Sharrard, formerly of this city, but now in the Rocky Mountains, states that snow was 16 inches deep and still falling at that writing. Miss Mattie Hatcher and brother, who recently returned home from there, were with an excursion party in the mountains, and the Miss Mattie ventured higher on the peaks than anyone of the party. Her clothes were frozen when she made the descent.

Fair Notes.

Yesterday was a "Jostle" day. Wolfe & Frost furnish the music. Horses are in this flesh at our fair. No sewing machine contest this year. No betting on the bay or any other animal.

Miss McKee didn't wear his badge, but came up.

None are cleverer than the officers of our Association.

Widower John Morgan took the premium on bread.

Mrs. Joe Hedges took the premium on a landscape in oil.

Even yesterday, a fellow could find room to sit down.

Mrs. Crutcher, of Frankfort, took the blue on the Afghan.

Jno. T. Hinton took the premium on best steel engraving.

Mrs. H. H. Long took the premium on crayon portrait display.

The ladies' riding ring will be one the attractive features to-day.

Miss Kirby white took the premium on display of oil painting.

Mrs. W. A. Cunningham took eleven premiums on fancy work.

The fruit and canned goods department no more had but goods rare.

In amateur painting, Miss Joe Stephens took a premium in oil painting.

Where did these special police come from? They don't live in the county!

Harvey Thorn and J. J. Hughes, were with all their hearts—their horses.

Woodman Morgan took premiums on oil paintings on both portrait and animal.

Mrs. Dr. H. C. Kehoe, of Cynthiana, took the blue on the worsted patchwork quilt.

There was no betting on Tuesday or Wednesday, because there was no one there to bet.

The Kensington fire screen which took the blue, is the work of Mrs. Sam Clay, of Lexington.

Mrs. J. M. Case, of Hutchinson, took the premium on a handsome blue more antique silk quilt.

A bright silk quilt, made by a child nine years old—Nema Young, of Lexington, took a premium.

Miss Lou Bowman, of Lexington, is the proud possessor of the honors worn by that handsome antique pottery.

Russell Mann's baby took the premium over twelve other boys, and Jeff Kiser took it in the girl ring yesterday.

With but little variation, the same parties are taking the premiums this year—particularly in the cattle shows.

Strangers frothed and foamed at the failure of our fair Wednesday, and notified us home folks fearfully.

Sam Pryor didn't get as many blues on the Berkshire as he wanted. Too many Poland-China men on the committee.

The lemonade and cream early men will be too badly fed to know themselves, and so will Nipper and all the vendors.

The attendance yesterday reached near 8,000 and was as fine a crowd as generally assembles at any one point in the State.

Farmers will recognize a thing of beauty in a stalk of mullen and thistle in bloom, and beautifully portrayed in water colors.

Those who attended the Bourbon House fair Wednesday night, say that it was larger attended than the first night generally.

For a dime, you can get a Punch, bear Judy, feed a snake, and see a pretty Circassian girl's stuffed pedal extremities, at the fair grounds.

Miss Emma Carson cut and made her silk dress, and got the special premium of Ingels & Co., and also the one offered by the association.

President J. W. Ferguson, of the association, is in for a testing track, and if the other ladies will follow, he will lead in the drive direction.

Geo. Thomas, of the Mayville Republican, W. H. Polk, Louisville Commercial, and Mr. Fleming, Lexington News, were taking in the fair yesterday.

LIFE is too short and space too valuable to publish such red reading as the list of premiums awarded. It follows the list of last year with that variation of an assessor's book.

The prettiest picture in the hall, by large odds, is a portrait and landscape in water colors, of a little Miss sitting on the brooklet bank with her feet in the water. It is the work of W. T. Huntleigh, of Lexington.

The floral display exceeded in beauty and profusion in that of any previous year. James Hinton and Mrs. Holliday furnished most of the display. Mr. Hinton took the display and several other premiums, while Mrs. Holliday took several class premiums.

Death of John Willie Clay.

Last night about 8 o'clock, John Willie Clay, aged about 33, son of Henry Clay, near Stone Point, started in a buggy over to Mount Airy, across Houston, to convey a young lady to the theater.

Shortly after, he was found in front of Mr. Dow's and Judge Turney's residences, standing on his feet and holding his horse, and one of his buggy wheels broken. He was injured internally, and died in great agony soon after being conveyed to his uncle's residence in this city—not being able to give any of the particulars of the accident. He had been a sufferer from spinal disease, and his injuries threw him into convulsions. It is generally concluded that some one ran into his buggy, and he was thrown out on the pike. No wounds were found on his body.

SOCIETY SCINTILLATIONS.

Thos. Waller and wife are up from Cincinnati.

Gen. Jno. S. Williams attended the fair during the week.

Miss Conyers, of Ga., is the guest of the Bourbon House.

Miss Alice Worthington, of Covington, is the guest of Miss Ogden.

Hon. A. R. Smith, candidate for Lt. Governor, is taking in the fair.

Col. A. J. Morey, of the Cynthiana News, attended our fair yesterday.

Mr. Garfield is under Dr. Boynton's care. She is suffering from malaria.

Mrs. Willis Hedges has rented of Mrs. Ireland, her boarding house on Pleasant Street.

It would be more convenient to kiss her down than to follow her to the depot.

Zeke James' horses are now with a circus. He ought to have them in heaven with him.

Gen. Buford danced the quadruplet and other kick-high and tight—on dances last night.

A million of gold dollars weigh 3,683 pounds, and a million silver dollars 71,614 pounds.

A man loves when his judgment approves; a woman's judgment approves when she loves.

It all days could be Thursdays, what a world of fools would be put on the big dog all the time.

Ben Butler would make a good husband of a cold winter, because he would always "spoon."

Bob Parrish and Miss Nannie Boaze, of Flat Rock, married yesterday at the Thurston House.

Bervent sent Craddock a written challenge Tuesday, but Craddock didn't have time to answer it.

"Cap" Sharrard, of Louisville, took in the fair during the week and greeted his many old friends.

One good thing about our fair—the officers do not lay so much stress on their badges and red tape.

The idle should not be chased among the living; they are a sort of dead man that can't be buried.

Solomon said "There's nothing new under the sun." A liar. Our new depot is under the sun.

Misses Lulu Long, of Midway, and Lizzie Taylor, of Millersburg, are the guests of Miss Eliza Hedges, this week.

A young lady in the knob neighborhood, of Simpson county, has hair seventy inches long, for which she has refused $80.

Miss Florence Kennedy, of the Huntley Dramatic Company, is an exquisitely handsome and accomplished lady, and a tip-top actress.

Misses Shackelford, of Richmond, and Shelby and Lilly, of Lexington, and Lackey, of Lancaster, are the guests of Mrs. Clara S. Stephens.

Some Washington ladies have formed a secret society with a view of exposing politicians who place abandoned women in the departments.

Bob Ford is in Cincinnati. If he will only come over to Lancaster, Ky., some fellow will be glad to "get married" to him for a few minutes, just for the novelty of the thing.

CRADDOCK has been reveling in clover of seven and eight leaves, but that's nothing. Harry James' little son Charles, showed the News on the other day with fifteen leaves.

"Heaven lies about us in our infancy," says the poet. The inference is that as soon as we get big enough to talk we can be relied on to lie about ourselves. If we do not, our enemies will lie about us. (Text as follows.)

A miss of twelve at a Long Branch hotel is a perfect little heart-smasher. She appears in a many as six costumes in a single day, including a bathing dress which would be shocking if she were a year or two older.

Mrs. Capt. T. A. Johnson, of Atoka, Tenn., is the guest of BOURBON NEWS.

The Misses Giltner, of Eminence, and Page, of Mo., are the guests of Mrs. Geo. Collier.

The Misses Chiles and Parker, of Cincinnati, are the guests of Mrs. George Collier.

A. J. Bradford, democratic post-master of Bradford, Bracken county, is attending our fair.

Miss Martha Tipton took the premium on display of silk quilts, but got left by an unknown quill on patchwork.

Do not wear your troubles and misfortunes on the outside like an overcoat, but keep them hidden within, like a ragged-bast vest.

Miss Ellen Meighan, of Lexington, took the premium or worsted embroidery on canvas. Her subject was Christ bearing the cross, and contained 221,888 stitches.

Banana pie is now included among the alleged delicacies of the season. Don't you monkey with it. The datted bananas are just as slippery in the stomach as they are under the heel.

Cesar was a bald-headed man, while history supports the theory that all philopshers, soldiers and statesmen were scant haired, while the insane asylum abounded with long and coarse-haired individuals.

In describing a bathing costume the other day, Clara Belle said that the skirt was too short to sit on. If there isn't a dress reform at the seaside pretty soon, ladies' skirts will soon be so brief that after a while their suspenders will show.

Miss Lida Avritt, well-known here as one of the most accomplished music players of the Cincinnati College of Music, assisted by Mac Lovenhart, will give a concert at Old Fellows' Hall, on Tuesday evening next. We bespeak for Miss Lida, the kindest consideration of an appreciative public.

Gen'l Winfield Scott Hancock wrote to Joe Davis, regarding that he could not attend the series of hops given by the Bourbon Club, during the fair week. The letter was written by his private secretary, and signed by the General, whose signature could not be deciphered or counterfeited by the oldest expert.

The Bourbon House hop last night was one of the grandest ever given in this city. It was immensely attended, and the ladies' dresses were rich and rare. Miss Mollie Knight wore a cream satin broadie in golden fern leaves on front breast; Miss Lida Hildreth, cream satin with hand-painted sunflowers; Miss Carrie Hildreth, cream satin and crimson; Miss Katie McClelland, pink satin and striped moire. Most of the toilets would approximate the samples given.

Rev. George W. Sweeney is in town visiting his brother J. S. Chicago is his home, and is in the field holding meetings and lecturing. He spent the past winter in New Orleans, Memphis, Little Rock and other Southern cities lecturing and preaching. He professes this sort of work to be the settled pastorate as he has been in very poor health for a year past, but traveling and general recreation have done much for him and he is beginning to feel much improved. Rev. S. will be in the city and at Millersburg, his old home, for a week or two. His many friends will be glad to hear him preach again before leaving us.

The Trader, Turfman, Farmer and Sportsman,

Shelbyville sows are dying with "splenic fever," whatever that is.

Dr. Eals, of Paducah, Mo., has moved to a neat farm near Carthage, Mo.

The trotting mare Alice Stoner, by Strathmore, has been sold for $18,000.

Maj. B. G. Thomas has won three races at the White Sulphur Spring trot.

Treacy & Wilson, of Lexington, shipped to Eastern parties last week $15,000 worth of horses.

Van Ness has gone to Bowling Green with Simmons' trotters, including Alexander and Lamps.

Maj. T. P. Johnson, of Fayette, sold his celebrated horse, King Phillip, Saturday to an Eastern party, for $5,000.

Floral Hall exhibit is very good, but the hall is not crowded by side displays by the merchants as it used to be, which makes it look scant.

I. L. Yearley, of from 30 to 50 acres of tobacco land, and 25 acres for corn. He refers to them in his precinct.

The cattle show at our fair Tuesday, was not so good as that of previous years, as was that the case also with Lexington. The scarcity and high price of grain with which to fatten, is the cause of the discrepancy.

chance here. One poor fellow who saw further up the coast, who had his right hand and the thumb of his left, had to be fed by his wife. The course is walrus meat. This is also up by the presiding lady and is served with no stinging hand. At this point of the meal the one who can swallow the largest piece without chewing has advantage, and the only way to get it with him is to keep one piece in your mouth and two in your hand all the time.

—Mobile, Ala. One very versatile somnambulist. One night recently got out of bed, arrayed himself in full evening dress, and went through the motions of receiving guests. The next night he imagined he was at an engagement, and shouldering his gun, paraded the streets all night. The night following got up and dressed, putting his socks on one side of his shoes, and ran a foot race. New Haven Register.

checks of intellectual bankruptcy; may fill them up with what idea like; it makes no difference; for there are no funds in the treasury upon which they are drawn.—Oliver Wendell Holmes

—From esthetic Boston comes a bit of wit: "We were eating our supper, and Mrs. Dodge was cooking beefsteak. I asked my little girl how would have her beefsteak cooked," replied, "I will have it tender and true."

—A Baltimore negro wife-beater recently ordered by a Judge of that to receive thirty lashes. Such a sentence was entirely unexpected by the culprit who for a few moments seemed stricken dumb; then he exclaimed: "Fore Lord, Judge, give me seven years in jail. This was the first whipping case under new law, passed at the last session of Legislature."

The usual practice of covering walls with paper is pronounced English-sounding at any time, but in various respects—for the efficient and pleasing, it is not so healthful, this being due to the fact the paper itself sometimes carries deleterious particles, and the paper which it is held to the walls undergoes organic decomposition in process of damp. A great desideratum is that can be put up like paper, and can be washed at any time, and is completely purifiable. To realize this has suggested that in some parts of a house, where the walls are not advantageously used; in other rooms, impermeable cement might be employed, and in the remainder of the latter of which would prove expensive and durable. All walls with porous and absorbent vapor must be made uncleanable.—Zettig.

omit offering its privileges to an invigilant to be condemn oneself as being ignorant of the usages of polite society. That a gentleman may not sit upon a sofa; to take a seat there uninvited; very presumptuous; and to ask even intimate acquaintance to sit beside one on that sacred resting-place would be highly indecorous in a young lady; but justice to the girls of this country, however, it should be said that arm-chairs were in use in Germany long before we were thought of by Mr. Harlequin.

One of the finest native breeds thus discovered in this country is on exhibition at Bangor. It is a green trout of rare beauty and perfection. It is called the trout of Mount M., and has just been cut by a veterinarian of London. An emerald of its hue, and of an extremely rare kind, is unknown. — Boston Post.
